From person import Person

Does not return anything
      Void add(Persons)
            Defines the __init__ method to class Persons
                  Creates attribute for: a list
            Does not return anything

#option 2:
            Defines add method to class Persons
            Takes argument: e
                  Appends list with e
            Does not return anything

#option 1:
            Defines the __str__ method to class Persons
                Creates attribute for a string
                Iterates over a loop
                      Creates attribute for an updated version of the string Returns the string

#option 3:
            Defines search method to class Persons
                Takes argument: string
                Change input to lowercase
                Iterates over the directory (and checks their lowercase eqvuilance)
                    Returns a list of all matching records

#option 4:
            Defines modify method to class Persons
                Takes argument: string
                Change argument to lowercase
                Uses search method to return a list of all matching records
                Extracts getData from class Person
                Provide user to modify the chosen record
                Does not return anything

#option 5:
            Defines delete method to class Persons
            Takes argument: string

Change arugment to lowercase
Uses search method to return a list of all matching records
Provide user to delete the chosen record
Does not return anything